Biography

Prior to joining Bick Law LLP, Corrie L. Plant practiced for ten years at the national law firm Pillsbury Winthrop Shaw Pittman LLP, in Pillsbury's Environmental & Natural Resources and Litigation groups. Corrie is an experienced environmental lawyer whose practice focuses on environmental litigation and compliance counseling, including CERCLA, RCRA, Clean Water Act, OSHA and California's Proposition 65. She routinely advises clients regarding compliance with various environmental laws related to the sale of consumer products, including Proposition 65, Green Chemistry, FIFRA, TSCA and the Consumer Product Safety Improvement Act. Corrie also has a broad range of experience defending clients in administrative, civil and criminal environmental enforcement actions. In addition, Corrie has extensive experience in the defense and settlement of complex, multiparty cases in both federal and state court, including trial and pre-trial motion practice, devising settlement and trial strategies, and preparing for and participating in mediations and arbitrations.

Corrie's clients include a wide array of industries, such as retailers, consumer product manufacturers, dietary supplement manufacturers, restaurants, food manufacturers and distributors.
